1. The Rumanian Government has created a camp colony near Hunedoara for the benefit of Rumanian children whose parents died in Korea, "or elsewhere." As the number of Rumanians who have died in Korea (if any) is extremely small, the two thousand children now in the camp probably come from various areas. They range from six to eleven years of age.
2. [] many of these children were simply taken from their parents as punishment to the latter. Some Greek children are said to be in this group. If so, they must have been kidnaped very young and must now be among the oldest children in the camps. They are being carefully brought up in the most virulent Communist doctrine.
